

Handwritten text on a torn strip of paper, likely a fragment of a document. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly a historical form of English or a related language. The strip is torn and irregularly shaped, with some characters appearing to be part of a larger word or phrase. The text is written in dark ink on a light-colored background.

Handwritten text on a strip of paper, possibly a fragment of a document. The text is written in a cursive script, likely a historical form of English or a related language. The strip is torn and irregularly shaped, with some characters appearing to be part of a larger word or phrase. The text is written in dark ink on a light-colored background.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20
cms.

Fragmentary handwritten text in an ancient script, likely cuneiform, arranged in approximately 12 horizontal lines across the page. The text is heavily damaged and fragmented, with many characters being illegible due to the state of the fragments. The script appears to be a form of Akkadian or Sumerian, given the context of such archaeological finds. The fragments are scattered across the page, with some showing clear beginnings or endings of lines of text, while others are isolated words or groups of characters. The ink is dark, and the background of the fragments is a light, aged color.

Handwritten text on fragments of ancient papyrus, likely in Demotic script. The fragments are arranged in two rows at the top of the page. The text is partially obscured by the torn edges of the papyrus.

Handwritten text on fragments of ancient papyrus, likely in Demotic script. The fragments are arranged in two rows in the middle of the page. The text is partially obscured by the torn edges of the papyrus.

6

Handwritten text on a torn strip of paper, likely a fragment of a larger document. The script is a cursive form of an ancient language, possibly Sumerian or Akkadian, written in dark ink on a light-colored, fibrous material.

Handwritten text on a torn strip of paper, continuing the cursive script from the previous fragment. The text is arranged in a single line across the width of the strip.

Handwritten text on a torn strip of paper, showing a continuation of the cursive script. The characters are closely spaced and flow together in a continuous line.

Handwritten text on a torn strip of paper, with the script appearing as a single line of cursive characters.

Handwritten text on a torn strip of paper, showing a line of cursive script. The paper is significantly damaged and torn at the edges.

Handwritten text on a torn strip of paper, with the script continuing across the fragment. The characters are well-defined despite the age and damage.

Handwritten text on a torn strip of paper, showing a line of cursive script. The fragment is small and appears to be a part of a larger text.